TEELA-WOOKET CAMPS

IN the very heart of the Green Mountains at Roxbury, Vermont, Nature created a little "Wonderland" which, through all the ages, has been waiting the time when girls, from everywhere, would find it and make it their camping ground. So perfectly is it adapted to the purpose, that it seems as if Mother Nature must have had a vision of the present Teela-Wooket. The little plateau on which the gray-brown cabins are perched is just above, and overlooks, the level green valley with its athletic fields, tennis courts, and golf course, its farmhouses, stables, and riding ovals.

Here at Teela-Wooket no single item of desirable equipment is missing. Homey cabins nestle in the sun at the edge of the forest. The little lake calls, from among the spruces behind the hill. The rustic home of the nature lover sets back from the road in a veritable thicket, and woodsy trails and bridle paths beckon the explorer.

JUNIOR CAMP

EVERYONE at Teela-Wooket loves the Junior Camp and the little people who live there.

The home of the camp mother is the center of a village of little brown cabins; in each cabin lives a happy family of three girls and a counsellor. Junior Camp, like each of the others (Middler and Senior), is quite independent, and juniors are sure that it is the best camp of all. They ride and swim, play tennis, and dance, take part in dramatics, go for long rides in the Irish Jaunting Cars, do crafts, and there are no "bossy" big girls to spoil the fun.

Juniors live and play with those of their own age, free from the tiring urge to keep up with older girls. Teela-Wooket is especially proud of its success in selecting leaders whose temperament and training have enabled them to make the Junior Camp a community of happy, contented little people who derive a great deal of benefit from their camp summer.

MIDDLER CAMP

THE rustic cabins of "Middler" are perched on the hillside with a wonderful view of the golf course, the valley, and the mountains beyond. Middler is for girls approximately eleven to fourteen years of age, but depending somewhat upon development.

Girls who have outgrown Junior like a camp of their own, where each may have an opportunity to enjoy the activities and to progress without the handicap which would result if they were thrown with those too much older, or too much younger.

SENIOR CAMP

ON the hillside, to the South, is the Senior Camp, where each picturesque cabin has its own delightful setting, — one under an old apple tree, another with a great paper birch in its dooryard, — and these are the homes of the older girls (fourteen to eighteen years).

Seniors love Teela-Wooket because they have a program planned especially for older girls. A wider variety of activities, a little more freedom with the resulting responsibilities, and a greater opportunity for self direction. In addition to the usual camp activities there is the camp golf course, the beautiful outdoor theater, and Teela-Wooket's famous string of saddle horses, which includes many successful show horses and hunters.

THE HORSEBACK CAMPS

PICTURE in your mind one of Vermont's innumerable pasture lands, — a fairly level plateau on the mountain side, a view of miles of beautiful green valleys with mountain piled upon mountain as far as the eye can see. The velvety green grass is close cropped by cows and sheep which now lie peacefully chewing their cuds under the shade of a gnarled old tree.

Two horsemen silhouetted against the sky line have paused to enjoy the refreshing breeze and to marvel at the beauty of the landscape. In the distance a song is faintly heard. . .

"Over hill, over dale, we will hit the dusty trail, Teela-Wooket comes swinging along."

Then, the thud of hoofs on the hollow ground, flashes of brilliant color begin to appear on the edge of the distant forest and Teela-Wooket's gay riders swing out into the open.

TEELA-WOOKET: THE HORSEBACK CAMPS

Trim, smartly dressed in their scarlet berets, scarlet ties, blue middies and tan breeches, riding easily at a trot, the gay line winds in and out among the scattered evergreens. They pause on a high point to admire the view, then suddenly wheel off at a canter to make a wide circle, with all the freedom of the broad open country, but with that easy order of accomplished horsewomen.

While the horsemen are enjoying the picture, the Teela-Wooket riders are nearing a dark spot at the edge of a great maple grove, and almost as mysteriously as they have appeared, they disappear again into an old road that winds through the deep maple shade.

Quietly the horsemen move off down the trail. Through the minds of each runs the thought: Such horses! Such riders! Wonderful country! What a picture!

Mr. Frederick Boswell has for fifteen years been Director of Riding at the Teela-Wooket Camps. His early experience as a horseman was that of the son of the owner of a fine breeding stable in England. Later he was a member of the British cavalry. Mr. Boswell has become well known in this country as an authority in matters pertaining to equitation.

Mr. Boswell's assistants are excellent horsemen and horsewomen who combine, with their own skill in equitation, a patience and an understanding of the problems of teaching which has made Teela-Wooket the outstanding Horseback Camp.

Campers ride every day and there is no extra charge for riding.

Beginners are taught in an enclosed oval with horses carefully trained for the work. When riders pass into the Second Class, they and their instructors take to the beautiful country roads. The First Class test is the next goal, and riders who pass may feel a just pride in their horsemanship.

To win the title of Vanguard Rider the girls are spurred on to attain even greater excellence. For each test which she passes, a camper receives insignia in recognition of her accomplishment.

Teela-Wooket is justly proud of her title, "The Horseback Camps", a standing won through years of attention to every detail. Teela-Wooket's horses are owned by the camp and maintained the year round.

Nearly every Teela-Wooket girl becomes a horse enthusiast. At first there is great enthusiasm over learning the fundamentals of riding, with the carefully chosen quiet horses. Later, as girls become more proficient, there are the long rides among the mountains, and finally, there is Teela-Wooket's cross-country course, with all the thrills of the jumps, the hills, the valleys, and the wide green fields. There is also instruction in side saddle for the more advanced riders.

HORSE SHOW

PERHAPS the greatest thrill of the season comes to the girls who are chosen to represent Teela-Wooket at Vermont's best Horse Shows.

In the morning of the bright August day all the First Class Riders with their counsellors have an early breakfast, followed by an automobile trip of an hour or two through the Green Mountains to the Horse Show, and a day of wonderful sport. Teela-Wooket's show horses and jumpers have arrived the day before and are ready for the ring, coats glistening in the morning sun.

Teela-Wooket girls in their snappy camp uniforms have come to be recognized as outstanding horsewomen. Their fine horses and good sportsmanship have earned for them the enthusiastic applause which always greets them as they enter the show ring.

After a day of brilliant victories and the incidental disappointments, the climax is reached back at camp where campers have been eagerly waiting for news of the show. One by one the automobiles arrive with their happy loads and suddenly the big doors of the dining room are thrown open and the riders march in with the trophies of the day's sport.

Not until the ribbons and cups have joined the trophies of other years, in the cases that line the walls is the Horse Show really over, and for days to come we recount the brilliant performances of our favorite horses, and the riders who did their bit for the honor of Teela-Wooket.

WATER SPORTS

TEELA-WOOKET'S little lake is the joy of every camper. It is hidden among the white birch and spruce trees, with a network of little woody paths leading in from every direction.

TEELA-WOOKET HAS SEVERAL EXCELLENT SHOW HORSES

All through the long summer days the lake is a center of good fun. By the rustic bridge across the narrow inlet beginners are having their first instruction. With squeals of delight girls splash and spatter in perfect safety. Farther down the shore a group is preparing to take the life-saving tests, and many and thrilling are the "rescues" and "resuscitations." From the springboards and diving tower scarlet-clad figures flash upward and out in graceful sweeping curves, piercing the surface with perfect dives. Careful, patient instructors are everywhere, teaching and guarding the safety of the swimmers. To many, the water sports hold first place in the memory of a happy summer at Teela-Wooket.

During the season, tests are given in swimming, diving, and life-saving, and insignia are worn to designate the progress made.

CAMPING TRIPS

ALMOST every pleasant day hiking parties go out from camp. At first the trips are short, but gradually they grow longer until hikes develop into real camping trips.

Often on a clear, cool morning there is unusual activity about the camp. Eager, bright-eyed girls, tanned by the sun and wind, are spreading their blankets in front of their cabins. Sweaters, flashlights, cups and all the paraphernalia for camping out are added, and all are finally rolled and packed in the canvas duffel bags and left to await the commissary truck.

Then eighteen or twenty campers with their counsellors bid a joyous farewell to the "stay-at-homes" and "hit the trail" for one of the popular camping places. Finally the halt is made for the night and wood is gathered for the camp fire. Small exploring parties plunge into the woods, only to be recalled by the odor of bacon, sizzling over the cooking fire. Supper over, camp is made ready for the night. Then comes the best part of the whole trip — stories around the camp fire.

Never was there such a setting. Lacy branches of towering trees reflect the firelight, and hold back the darkness beyond. Until long after taps back at camp, the forest rings with laughter and songs, but finally eyelids grow heavy and, two by two, these gypsy people creep carefully into their "comfy beds". For a little time they watch the stars twinkle through openings in the tree tops, while strange little noises drift in from the darkness beyond the circle of the campfire's light. Faintly the music of a little brook drifts up from the valley below. Then comes the glorious sleep of the out-of-doors.

GOLF

THE Six-Hole Golf Course built by Stiles and VanKleek, on the camp property, is the pride of every camper. At home or at school, one is invited to play golf just as one is invited to ride horseback, and happy is the girl who can accept such invitations, knowing that she can play a good game.

At Teela-Wooket the course is owned and maintained by the camp for the exclusive use of the campers and visiting parents. Campers may have two hours of instruction each week, and may use the course at any time.

Golf has become one of the most popular sports at camp and, from early morning until darkness drives in the last enthusiasts, one may look out across the beautiful rolling fairways and see girls practicing the strokes of the last instruction period. Twosomes and foursomes play their rounds with the courtesy of seasoned players; frequently a girl may be seen showing Father a free, graceful swing which gives promise of a real match in the near future. Mr. Willman, the golf instructor, is a professor at the University of Minnesota. There is no greens fee, and no charge for instruction.

OUTDOOR THEATER

Music, Dramatics, and Interpretive Dancing

CLOSE by the Craft Cabin is a natural amphitheater where towering spruces weave their lacy branches to form the high vaulted ceiling. Skilfully planted ferns and smaller trees form the back stage, and at the left the wooded hillside, with its moss-covered rocks, its ages-old hemlock stumps, and little winding paths, makes a setting of which any theatrical producer would be envious. In the evening concealed electric lights among the trees produce indescribably beautiful effects.

Girls who have never before taken an interest in music, dramatics, or dancing are eager to have a part in the productions staged in this lovely setting. Among the productions of the past few years are The Mikado, Rebecca of Sunnybrook Farm, Pirates of Penzance, Alice in Wonderland, and many others equally well known. The terraced amphitheater, with its ample seating capacity, makes it possible to invite the surrounding towns to enjoy, with the camp, some of the more ambitious productions.

Many happy hours are also spent practicing for glee club and orchestra.

Interpretive dancing, under the enthusiastic teaching of Mrs. Whitten, is one of the popular activities at Teela-Wooket and the Dance Festival in the Outdoor Theater is one of the most beautiful and enjoyable events of the season.

CABINS AND SHOWER BATHS

DEAR to the heart of every Teela-Wooket girl is her little brown cabin. Each cabin has two rooms, furnished with comfortable single beds, silk floss mattresses, and all other equipment necessary for convenience and comfort. Wide open to summer breeze and sunshine, and quickly made secure from mountain showers, it is a little corner of camp which is all her own.

Twenty shower baths with hot and cold water contribute much to the health and comfort of camp life.

TABLE

QUOTING from a letter received from no less an authority than Oscar of the Waldorf-Astoria after a few days' visit to camp, "The food is deliciously prepared, well served and plentiful."

With a kitchen equipped with every essential item of modern steam and electrical appliance, Mr. Edward Ruggles has served Teela-Wooket eleven years as Steward-Chef. For eight years, Mr. Max Furman has delighted campers with his bread and rolls, his artistic birthday cakes and his Sunday morning popovers. Near at hand is an unlimited supply of fresh vegetables. Milk and cream (Pasteurized) is supplied by a single "Accredited" dairy, and meat and fruits are supplied daily by the Boston market.

Parents are urged to co-operate with the camp management, in maintaining a regular and proper diet, by refraining from sending or bringing boxes of edibles to camp. Boxes of food will be returned to the sender.

CRAFTS

PERCHED on the hill overlooking the little lake is the Crafts Cabin, a rambling, rustic building, where happy, enthusiastic girls make all sorts of interesting things.

Many times in the happy moments spent at "Crafts" inspiration is born — "Oh!" — "Ah!" — "I didn't know it could be done that way!" — and so on, for many busy hours, culminating in that interesting day of all days, FIELD DAY and the CRAFTS EXHIBIT.

At the Crafts Cabin there are ample opportunities to learn to appreciate color, line, and form; to create articles of beauty and to receive the thrill of having made something beautiful and useful. It is a delight to see the joy that shines in the eyes of a girl when she shows Mother the scarf, or rug, or pocketbook, or bracelet that she herself has made.

FIELD DAY AND HORSE SHOW

FIELD DAY, perhaps the biggest event of the season will be on August 24th. The most important event of the day will be the Horse Show. This grows in popularity each year and brings many visitors to the camp. The string of splendid horses goes on parade and girls vie with one another in exhibitions of skill. The winners in each event are awarded ribbons.

Field Day at Teela-Wooket is a day of good-natured rivalry. So varied are the activities that practically every camper has some part in this final day of sports. The finals of the tennis and the golf tournament are played off. There are swimming and diving exhibitions, and the final matches in archery and rifle shooting.

ANNUAL BANQUET AND HONOR AWARDS

TUESDAY, August 27th, is the date set for the annual banquet. All through the day, groups of campers and counsellors have been at work and the "Big Bunk" is transformed into a woodland bower for the climax of the season. At last the doors are thrown open, and the eager, waiting campers pour in to gaze in wonder at the transformation.

When placecards have been found, and when justice has been done to the good dinner, then comes that part of the program to which everyone is looking forward, — the announcing of the season's Honor Roll.

The ceremony in the outdoor theater is a most impressive one. With lights very dim, Honor Girls of previous years move quietly along the terraces, and happy indeed is she who feels the light touch on the shoulder, the signal that she is to move out and join the group of those who best exemplify the spirit and the ideals of Teela-Wooket.

TH

PERSONNEL

EVERY detail is under the direct supervision of Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Roys and Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Hayden, who devote their time and thought throughout the whole year to Teela-Wooket. They select and organize a corps of assistants who maintain the high standards of Teela-Wooket and bring, each year, new ideas and ideals, so that a summer at Teela-Wooket may be a delightful experience for the campers and a source of lifelong satisfaction to the parents.

All Counsellors at Teela-Wooket are people of suitable age, and each year the number of those who are "Teela-Wooket trained" increases. A "Teela-Wooket trained" Counsellor is one who, as a camper, learned to love and respect the standards and traditions of the camp. At eighteen years of age she may take the Counsellor Training Course and it is to the loyalty and co-operation of these young women that Teela-Wooket owes much of its success.

In 1932 Mr. William T. Chase, a well-known authority in the field of camps and schools, became Associate Director of Teela-Wooket, serving in the capacity of Educational Advisor. By education, training, and experience Mr. Chase is eminently fitted for this work. The Directors of Teela-Wooket take great pleasure in extending a cordial invitation to campers, prospective campers, and their parents, to discuss with Mr. Chase any phase of the program of education.

When possible, the directors would like to meet both the parents and the prospective camper before a reservation is made, as such a meeting is invariably the basis of a mutual confidence, valuable alike to campers, parents, and the camp directors.

For those living reasonably near Boston, appointments will be made any time during the winter or spring, and visits are made to New York, Philadelphia, Washington, and Richmond, Va., with stops at intermediate points.

ENROLLMENT AND TERMS

THE Directors believe that they can preserve the spirit of equality and can more satisfactorily serve their patrons by making one all-inclusive charge, which will fairly cover all activities and expenses at camp, therefore there are absolutely "NO EXTRAS," no greens fee for golf, and no charge for trips. Even daily horseback riding and all instruction is enjoyed by every camper without charge.

The tuition for the season is $300.00. Payable $25.00 with application, $150.00, June 20th, and the balance, $125.00, July 20th.

A five per cent discount is given sisters.

The charge for the half-season is $175.00. Payable $25.00 with the application and the balance, $150.00, on the 20th of the month preceding arrival at camp. Campers cannot be received for less than the half-season.

No reduction can be made for campers arriving late or leaving early.

TEELA-WOOKET: THE HORSEBACK CAMPS

In case of illness or unexpected conditions which make it necessary for a camper to withdraw before the expiration of the period for which she is enrolled, one-half the regular tuition for the unexpired period will be charged.

For any term less than the full season the half-season rate will apply.

Positively no reservations made unless the application is fully made out and accompanied by the advance payment.

Make all checks payable to C. A. Roys.

Teela-Wooket receives girls from the best Christian families.

The Directors reserve the right to request the withdrawal of any camper who, in their judgment, is detrimental to the best interests of the camp.

PART-RATE CAMPERS

AS usual there will be an opportunity for a few girls, fourteen years of age or older, to whom the regular tuition is prohibitive, to secure a special rate of $200.00 by serving as dining room assistants. The time required for this duty will not interfere materially with participation in the camp activities and pleasures. Unless the regular tuition is actually prohibitive, please do not ask for the dining room arrangement. For every girl able to pay the tuition, but registered instead under the dining room arrangement, there is a worthy girl deprived of her camp experience.

The tuition under the dining room arrangement is payable $25.00 with application, $85.00, June 20th, $90.00, July 20th.

LIBERAL PAYMENT PLAN

WITH the knowledge that many are still finding it necessary to consider expenditures very carefully, the directors of Teela-Wooket will continue a plan of co-operation which has proven helpful. This is done in the hope that no worthy girls, wishing to join the Teela-Wooket family, may be deprived of the pleasure and benefit of the camp experience.

The reduced tuition, the "no extra" policy, the opportunity to rent camp outfit are all a part of this plan and it is suggested that parents who find the regular terms of payment burdensome, may arrange to pay the full amount of tuition, and rental or purchase price of camp outfit, in regular monthly payments.

ALLOWANCE IN CAMP BANK

A LIMITED amount of spending money is necessary for such items as camera supplies, stamps and stationery, personal laundry and hand-craft material. This allowance should not exceed $25.00 for the whole season. Parents are requested to add to the June 20th payment an amount which is considered sufficient for spending money.

This amount will be credited to the account of the camper in the Teela-Wooket Bank. She will be given a regular check book, and taught how to draw checks, to keep her own accounts and plan her expenditures so as to keep within the given allowance.

TEELA-WOOKET: THE HORSEBACK CAMPS

At the end of the season cancelled checks will be returned to the camper together with whatever cash balance remains.

This experience in banking has proved very valuable to campers.

CAMP OUTFIT

AFTER trying various plans of outfitting, it seemed best that Teela-Wooket should assume the full responsibility for providing any items of camp outfit which a camper may need: responsibility for quality, fit, marking, and for the practicability of the article for the purpose for which it is provided. Many items have been especially designed to meet our needs.

Each article is of excellent quality without being extravagant, and quantity buying has brought the prices lower than those ordinarily charged by stores. The outfit is fitted to the camper at camp, alterations are made when necessary, without charge, and each article is marked with the owner's name. Orders cannot be sent to the home in advance.

The camp uniform is a white middy blouse, dark blue serge bloomers, blue socks, white sneakers and scarlet tie. The riding uniform is a Teela-Wooket blue cotton middy blouse, wool whipcord riding breeches, golf stockings, sneakers or tramping shoes, scarlet hat and scarlet tie. For church, parties and the final banquet the camp uniform is white cotton middy and white cotton skirt, dresses will not be used at Teela-Wooket and campers are requested not to bring them.

RENTAL OF CAMP OUTFIT

THE cost of equipment for a summer at camp is an item which should receive serious consideration, particularly since so many garments are outgrown even before a second season.

Teela-Wooket offers a plan whereby everything, with the exception of headwear and footwear, may be rented. The rental charge for bedding, towels, duffel bags, and laundry bags, for the season is 20 per cent of their value. For clothing, golf clubs and tennis rackets the rental charge is 40 per cent of the value.

In 1934 the total average rental cost to the first year girls whose outfit problem was handled in this way was $14.33 for the season.

From the following list of articles which are carried in stock in all sizes in the camp outfit store, parents may select whatever items of outfit are needed to supplement things they already have on hand, and these items may be either purchased or rented as explained above.

Order blanks will be mailed promptly to those who register.

PLEASE NOTE — THIS IS NOT A REQUIRED LIST. It is simply a list of items carried in stock in the camp store. To those who register, an order blank will be mailed giving the price of each article and the number needed.

Campers may also bring any inexpensive articles of decoration which will help to give the cabin a "homey" appearance. Sofa pillows, pennants, pictures, etc. Magazines may be mailed to the camper, addressed to the Teela-Wooket Camps.

The Camp Library will greatly appreciate duplicate copies of books which can be spared from the homes of campers.

MARKING AND PACKING

EACH article sent from home must be plainly marked with the owner's name and packed in a small trunk. Large trunks should not be sent to camp. The camp will mark each article rented or purchased at camp.

Unless purchased or rented at camp, pack blankets, pillows, one change of bedding, one pair of bloomers, one middy blouse, one pair of socks and sneakers, and other bulky articles in a duffel bag and send by American Express or parcel post to the Teela-Wooket Camps, Roxbury, Vermont.

accommodations, it is seldom possible to reserve rooms for more than two days. Reservations should be made through the camp office, as far in advance as possible. Please do not make reservations through campers, as this frequently leads to confusion and disappointment. The rate to visitors is $3.50 a day. This rate applies to past Campers and visiting parents.

Young men over 14 years of age (brothers not excepted) will not be received at camp.

Parents wishing to spend a few weeks in the vicinity of Teela-Wooket will find the Kimball Inn, at Randolph, Vermont, a delightfully homey place, with large, well-furnished rooms and excellent table. There is a nine-hole golf course, open to guests of the inn. Randolph is a thirty-minute drive from Teela-Wooket, over excellent gravel roads. The rates at the inn are reasonable. Reservations should be made in advance and mention of Teela-Wooket will assure every possible courtesy.

GOLF AND TROUT FISHING

GUESTS of the camp are invited to enjoy the camp golf course and there is no greens fee.

The camp controls a trout pond, stocks it annually with brook trout of ample size and in ample number to assure good fishing. Fly rods and fishing tackle are provided by the camp, and since the pond is "head waters" no fishing license is required.

Trout taken are prepared by the camp chef and served to the fisherman and his guests. Fishermen feel at liberty to enjoy this unusual opportunity more freely if they can contribute their share to the support of the trout club; therefore, a charge of two and one-half cents per inch (the actual cost of the trout) is charged for the trout taken.

MEDICAL CARE

IN each camp is a well-equipped, conveniently located, infirmary with a registered nurse who looks after the minor ailments. Only thirty minutes' drive from camp, is the John P. Gifford Memorial Hospital, where the best of medical and surgical attention is available.

MOTION PICTURES

EXCELLENT motion pictures of the camp are available, and will help to visualize the life and activities. Mr. and Mrs. Roys will be glad to show these pictures in the home, or will show them for clubs or social gatherings where there are persons interested in camping. To those past campers and new friends of Teela-Wooket who have motion picture projectors using the regular sixteen M.M. film, Teela-Wooket films will be gladly loaned. Those wishing to use films should reserve a date well in advance, giving a choice of dates if possible.

TEELA-WOOKET makes the traveling arrangements, camp representatives conduct the parties, to and from camp, and a small pro rata charge will be made to cover the actual expenses incidental to the service.

From Boston the round trip pro rata expense of conducting the party will be approximately $1.10; from New York, approximately $1.50. From Philadelphia and Washington and Richmond, Va., $3.00. It is difficult to estimate the charge to those joining the Chicago party but it will be an exact pro rata division of the actual expense.

SCHOOL OF EQUITATION

NORMAL COURSE

JUNE 24th to 30th inclusive

THE Teela-Wooket School of Equitation, established in 1927, was the first in the United States to offer a comprehensive Normal Course in Equitation for civilians. A definite standard has been established and the Teela-Wooket rating (First Class, Second Class or Third Class Instructor) is recognized by camps, schools and other organizations requiring riding instructors. There are no age limits for those wishing to take the course, but ratings cannot be given to those under nineteen years of age.

The short duration of the course demands very intensive work, therefore it attracts men and women who already possess ability and experience, but wish to improve their work and to check their ability by an accepted standard. Evenings are devoted to lectures and discussions.

Beginners and Experienced Riders who do not wish to take the Normal Course, but who wish to combine instruction with a generous amount of riding over Vermont's beautiful trails, will enjoy an unusual opportunity during this period.

Mr. Frederick Boswell will again conduct the course. He will be assisted by a corps of instructors who will bring to Teela-Wooket the last word in equitation and theory of teaching. Teela-Wooket has a string of forty-five beautiful horses among which are many successful show horses and hunters.

The all-inclusive rate is $40.00 for the week.

AUTUMN RIDING CAMP

AUGUST 31st to SEPTEMBER 13th, inclusive

THE Autumn Riding Camp offers glorious riding holidays for those who love good horses, excellent instruction in horsemanship, pleasant companionship, unexcelled food and cabin comfort. There is golf, tennis, swimming, trout fishing from a well-stocked pond and all this against a background of golden Autumn days in the mountains.

Almost unlimited riding is enjoyed. Riders are classified as to ability, so that each will be sure of a suitable horse, an enjoyable ride, and the proper instruction. There is special instruction for beginners.

Long trips are planned, with luncheon cooked over the camp fire, while the picketed horses munch their noonday oats.

The guests of Teela-Wooket for these wonderful Autumn Riding Weeks are a congenial group of sportsmen and sportswomen, who appreciate the unusual facilities to be enjoyed at comparatively small cost. Only a small group can be accommodated, the number being strictly limited to allow ample riding for each guest.

A few Teela-Wooket girls remain for the Autumn Camp; and parents, who wish to share the camp life and sports with their daughters, are particularly welcome.

The all-inclusive rate for the week August 31 to September 6, inclusive, is $40.00. For the week September 7 to September 13, inclusive, the rate is $30.00.

BROTHERS OF TEELA-WOOKET GIRLS HAVING AN AFTERNOON'S SPORT IN THEIR SPEED BOAT, THE RIOT

CAMP IDLEWILD

LAKE WINNEPESAUKEE, N. H.

IDLEWILD was our response to the frequently expressed wish of parents that we provide a camp for their boys.

In 1920 Idlewild, even then one of the oldest and best known camps for boys, was purchased, and during the past fourteen years has been associated with Teela-Wooket. Mr. and Mrs. L. D. Roys are the resident Directors.

It is obviously an advantage to parents to have brothers and sisters attend camps under the same general management. One investigation will give a comprehensive idea of the standards and ideals of both camps. The same opening and closing dates, the same "No Extra" policy, a 5% discount to brothers of Teela-Wooket girls, and many other arrangements for the convenience of parents, make this union of the two camps particularly advantageous. At the same time, the camps are far enough apart to be entirely independent.

Idlewild has an ideal location on a regular Robinson Crusoe island. Two hundred and twenty acres of fields and pine forest, with nearly three miles of lake shore, offer every opportunity for a real boy's vacation.

Riding, Swimming, Boating, Canoeing, Aquaplaning, Speed Boat, War Canoe, Model Yacht Building, Sailing, Mountain Climbing and Trips, Golf Instruction, Rifle Practice, Baseball and many other land and water sports.

If you have a son of camp age won't you write to us so that we may send you an Idlewild booklet, and the Idlewilder, our camp paper.
