

Wenonah Swim Club Elects Trustees

Three new trustees were elected last night by the Wenonah Swimming Club. They are William S. Rambo, Jr., James E. Lufkin and Robert A. Moore.

James W. Savin, club president, presided at the annual meeting, attended by more than 400 members in the Holly House, Merchantville. The club had an "outstandingly" successful year, Savin said.

Ted Worthington, membership chairman, reported club membership has reached 350 families and that there is a growing waiting list of new applicants.

Andy Wesh, chairman of the construction committee, presented a detailed report of recommendations and plans for further expansion to be considered at a later meeting.

The activities of a junior group of club members were outlined by Jo Park, who reported the group includes members whose ages range from 13 to 20.
